

A Monster's Many Feelings

Monsters have feelings, just like you!

Monster Gizmo is going to visit the zoo today with her best friend.
She feels excited.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

- A big smile
- Eyes that get small and squint

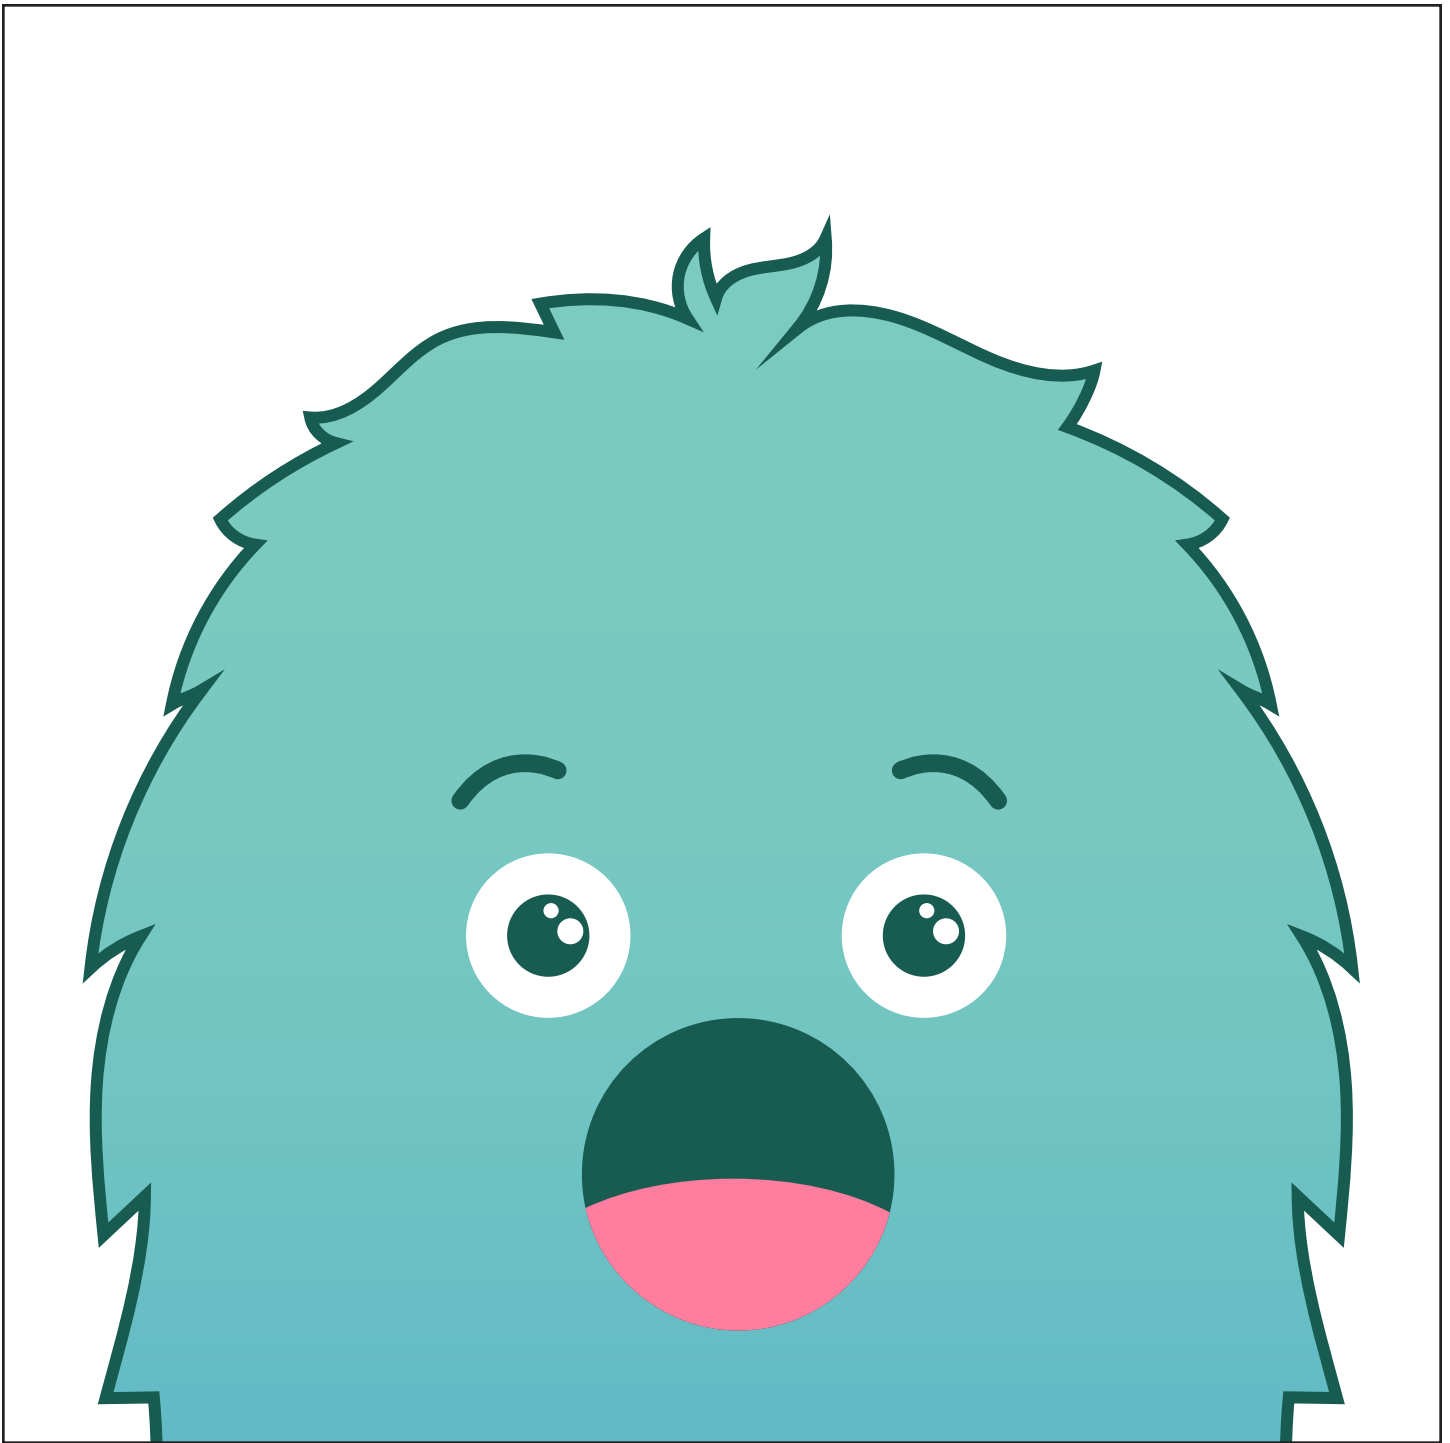

Oh no! Her best friend can't go with her. She feels sad.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

- A frown
- Tears in the eyes

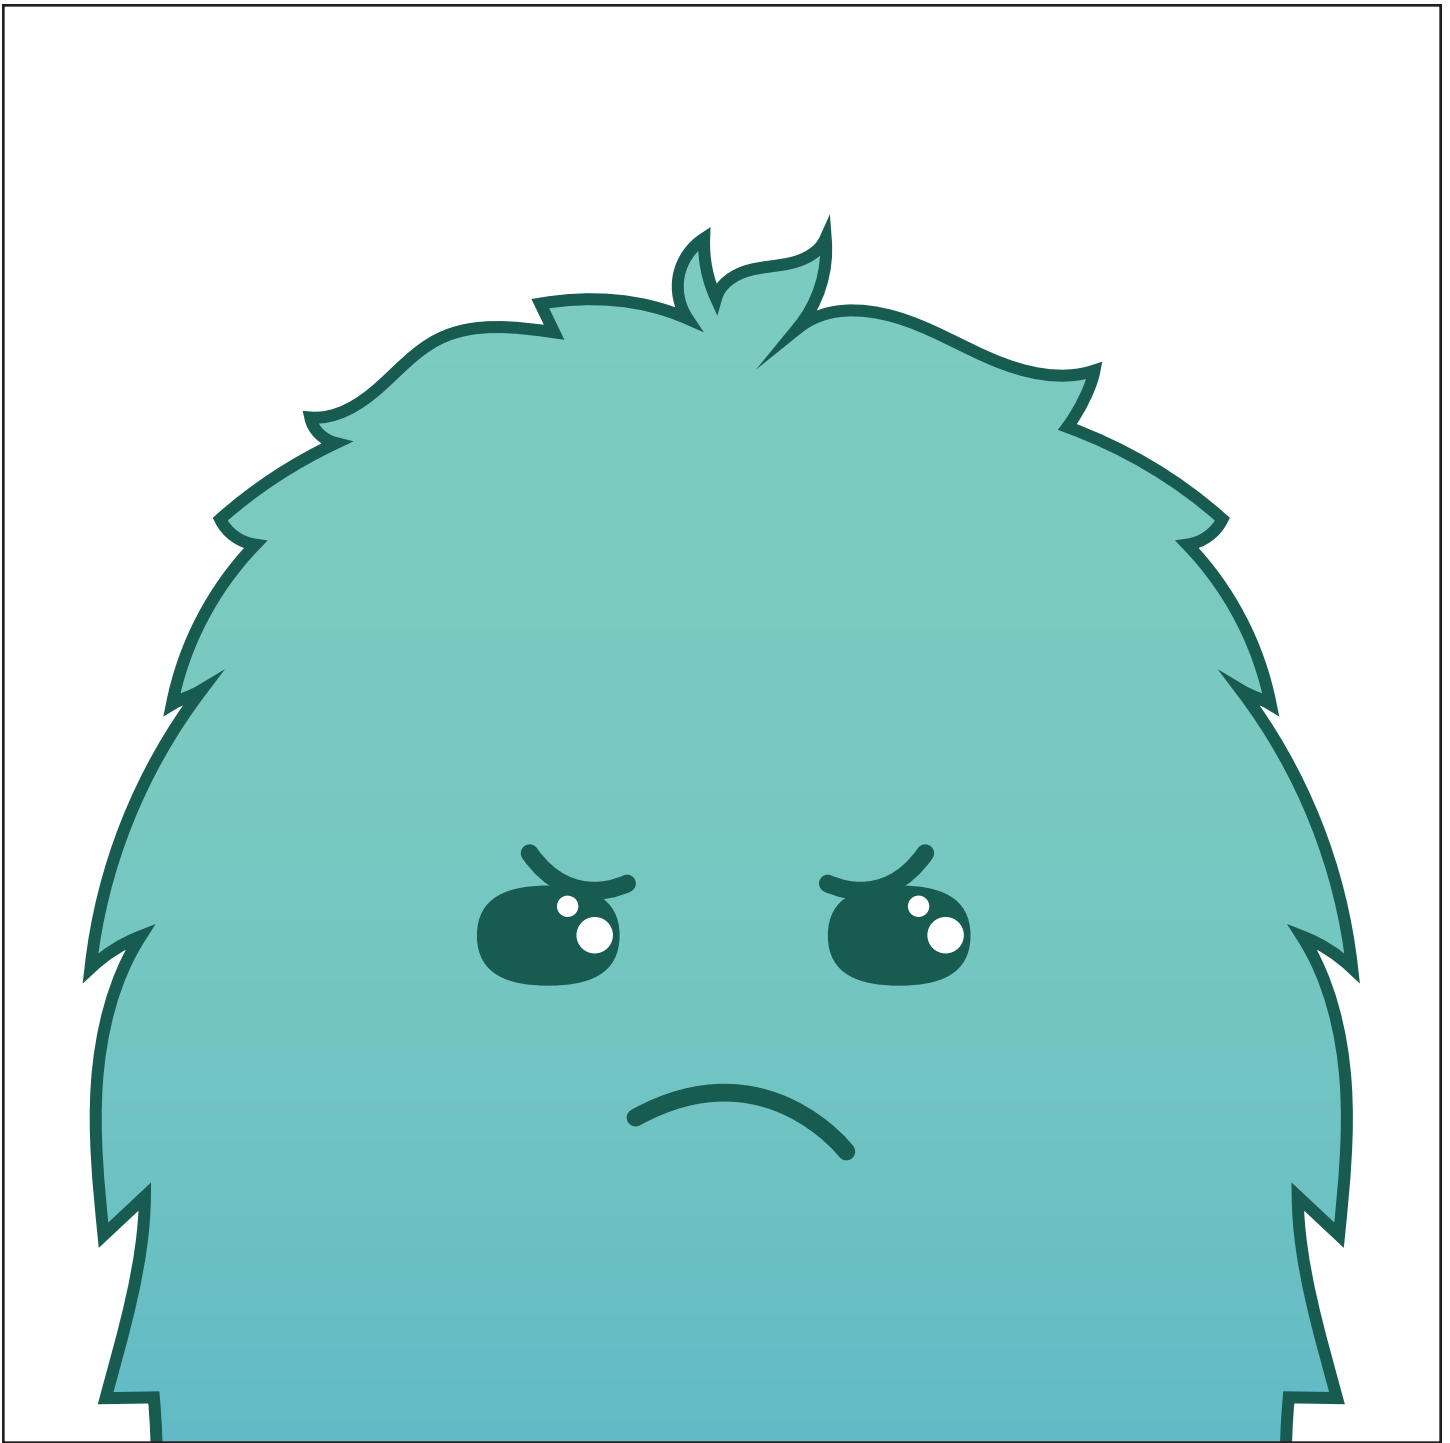

When she gets to the zoo, she sees her teacher. She feels surprised.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

- Big and wide-open eyes
- An open mouth

Monster Gizmo is hungry. She bought an ice cream cone. Yikes, it fell!
She feels mad.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

- A tightly closed mouth
- Eyebrows that come together

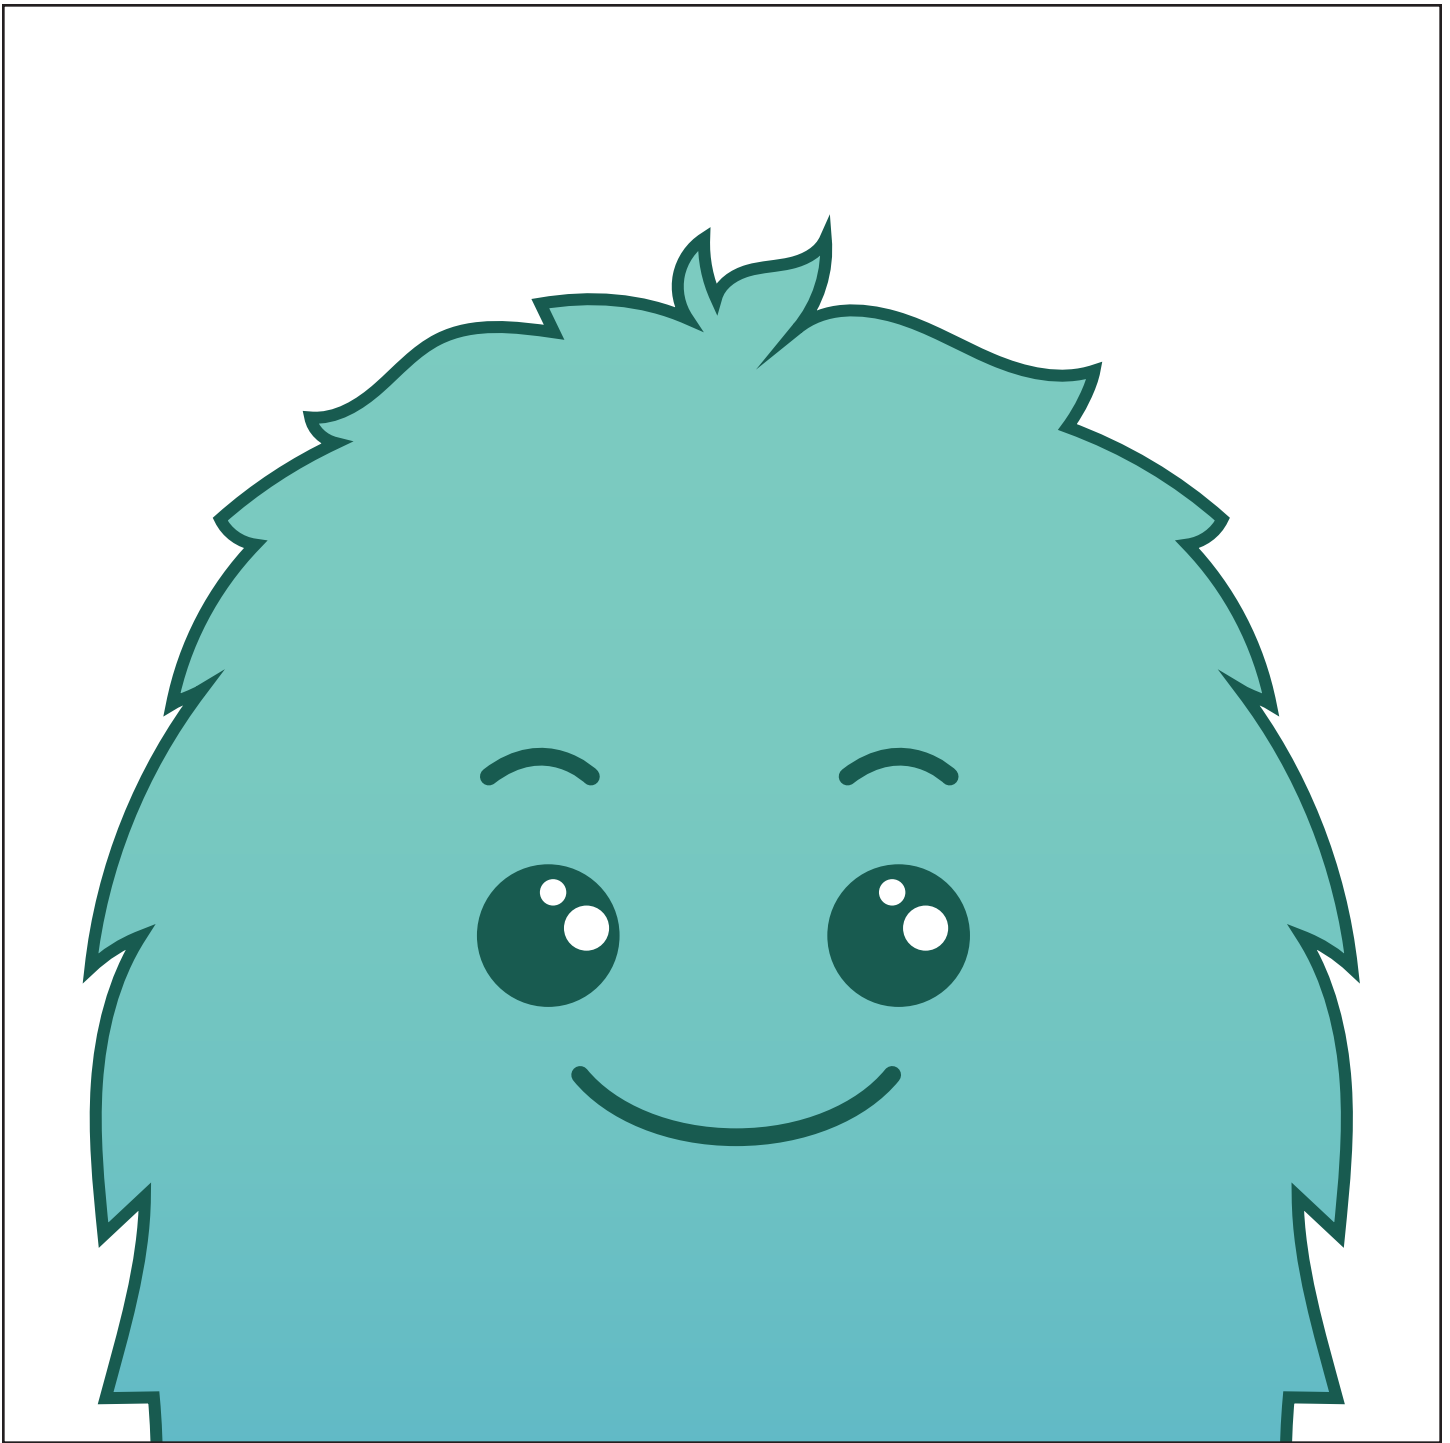

Looking at the zoo animals is fun. She sees a snake. She feels scared.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

- Wide-open eyes
- Hands covering her face

Zoo day is over, and Monster Gizmo had a lot of fun. She feels happy.

How do we know?

Her face shows:

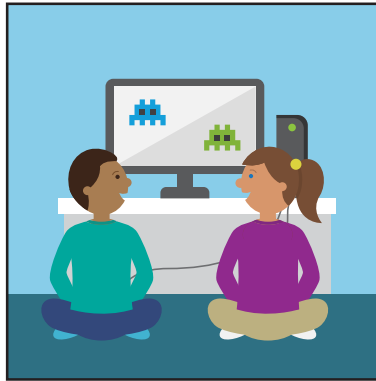

- A big smile

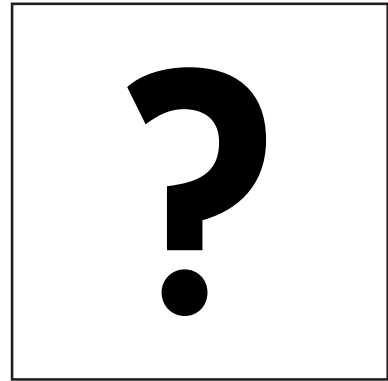

What makes you excited?

My birthday

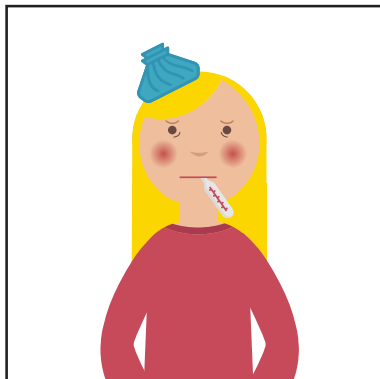

Playing video games

Something else

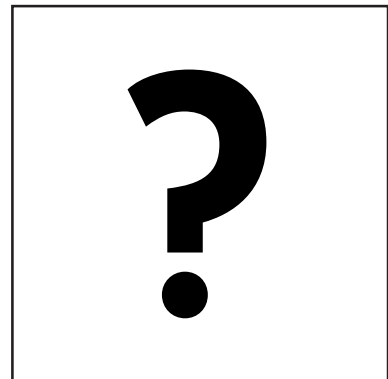

What makes you sad?

Getting sick

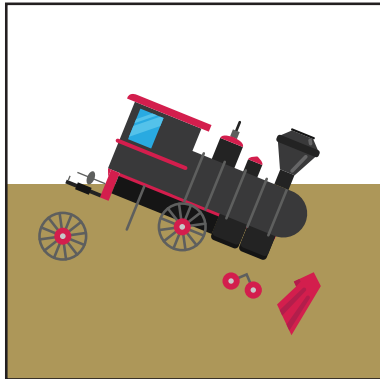

Losing a game

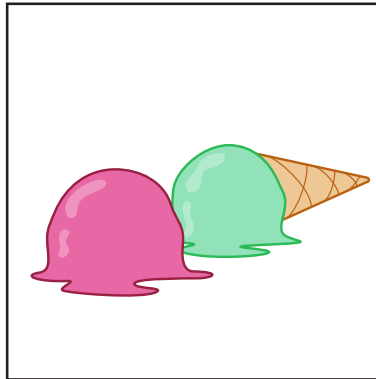

Something else

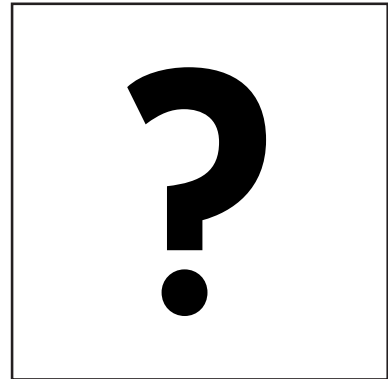

What makes you mad?

Breaking my favorite toy

Dropping my ice cream cone

Something else

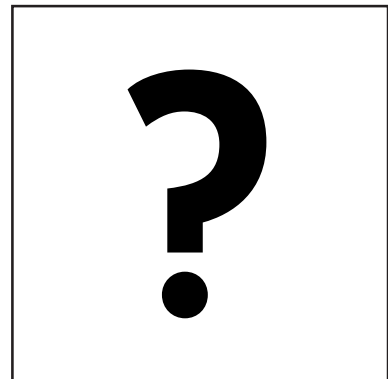

What makes you surprised?

Opening presents

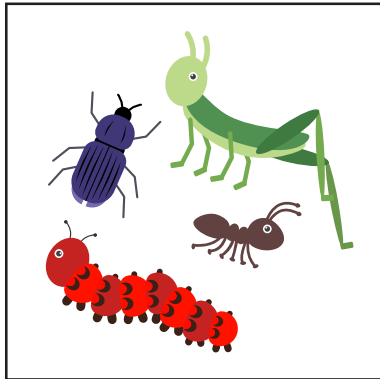

Seeing my teacher at the park

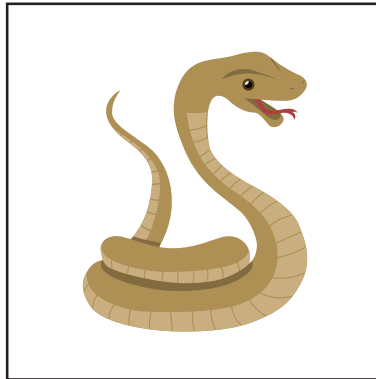

Something else

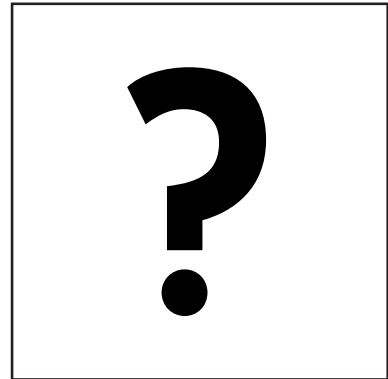

What makes you scared?

Seeing a bug

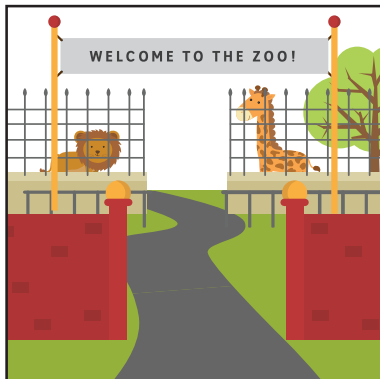

Seeing a snake

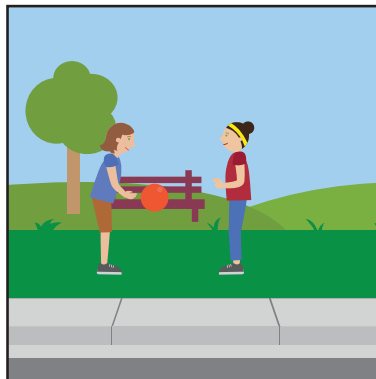

Something else

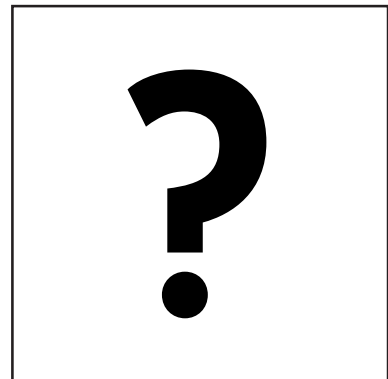

What makes you happy?

Going to the zoo

Playing with my friend

Something else